Two events in Sacramento are causing local concern. City Clerk Larry Rose says that A. B. 1351, a bill to make local elections partisan, will be up for hearing before the assembly committee on elections and reapportionments, April 22. He urges you to write Senator Fred Farr, Assemblyman Alan Pattee, and especially assemblyman A. B. Crown, chairman of the above committee, expressing objections to a law that would "bring boss rule back to the cities," to quote the League of California Cities' bulletin. There is no political issue in providing streets and sewers for a city, clerk Rose points out.

It's hard enough to find qualified persons to run for city council without having to sift them for party affiliations. How many of our citizens know which of our councilmen are Republicans and which Democrats, and what difference does it make? Would a Democrat because he is a Democrat be better qualified to determine if a city owned pine tree should or should not be removed than a Republican?

The other matter came to our attention in a letter which arrived this morning.

—W. C.

Editor of the Pine Cone:

Knowing that your publication reaches so many people vitally interested in the preservation of this area's natural assets, as well as those of the state in general, we call attention to the resolution just passed in the State Senate which would authorize the State Fish and Game Department to massacre the colonies of sea lions off our coast, reducing their number from estimated population of 19,000 to 5,000.

Quoting from a S.F. paper: "Marine biologists describe this contemplated carnage as 'sickening from a moral standpoint and from a biological viewpoint abhorrent.'" Commercial fishermen demand the extermination of seventy-five percent of all sea lions along this coast though their charges against the lions are far from substantiated and even if they were would hardly justify such slaughter. "Scientific studies," I am again quoting, "reveal that the sea lion diet consists of seventy-five percent of fish that are not food fish. They consume large quantities of lamprey and other voracious destroyers of food fish. Excellent fishing is to be found around Ano Nuevo island and other rocks inhabited by herds of sea lions."

They are to be taken from the list of protected mammals and made subject to indiscriminate decimation by anyone with a gun and a yen to kill.

Public opinion, articulate and immediate would be a powerful force to dissuade this carnage, and "Time is of the essence."

Most Sincerely,
Mrs. F. A. Bacher, Jr.

"The real function of an artist is to express his own ideas. If he has no ideas, he has no expression, merely a form of nihilism. Little forms of color and squiggly lines seem to express nothing to me except a form of defeatism."

So says young artist Luis Filcer of Mexico City, currently visiting friends in Carmel while having a one-man show at the Center Gallery in the Carmel Craft Center.

"The trouble with non-objective art is that it appeals to the eye, but not to the mind," he went on. "As a design for some practical purpose or application, such painting may have real value."

Filcer, who might be described best as one who travels the middle of the road in art, continued: "It seems to me that it is entirely possible that non-objective art reflects a form of fear of life, a fear of saying something."

Born near Kiev in southern Russia, he left when he was six years old. His parents settled in Mexico City and he attended the public schools there, eventually entering the University of Mexico, majoring in business administration and accounting. As an elective course, he enrolled in an Art class.

In his second year, Luis majored entirely in art. This upset his father a great deal, a condition that was not remedied until the day the first painting was sold.

After graduation, Filcer went to Europe and studied for seven years. His first stop was in Paris where he studied at the Ecole de Beaux Arts on a scholarship. However, he did not find the stimulation he sought and after a few months, went on to Rome. This did not prove to be the artistic climate he sought, either. However, in Holland, he enrolled at the Rijksacademie in Amsterdam and remained there for more than six years.

When he returned to Mexico, he studied at the Escuela San Carlos in Mexico City under the Spanish painter, Jose Bardasano. By this time, he knew where his interest lay and he began to paint the people of Mexico.

As a result, his painting reflects the face of the people of his country: beggars, peons, the very rich, the abjectly poor, the clerics, the military. The extremes of the country—its rawness, violence, and brilliance—are mirrored in his canvases.

When asked which painters influenced him the most, he replies, "Rembrandt, Van Gogh, Toulouse-Lautrec."

Melville, Elsen Up Count To Five For School Board

Mrs. Alphonse E. (Jean) Elsen and John Melville filed on Tuesday and Wednesday as candidates for the Carmel Unified School District Board in the election to be held May 19.

They are the fourth and fifth candidates for the two vacancies on the board. The others are Mrs. Frank (Marjory) Lloyd, Gordon Campbell (incumbent) and Dr. Richard Snyder. Filing closes tomorrow.

City Wins Case Against Work Co. On Delivery Fees

This morning Judge Harold White of Castroville, presiding in municipal court in Monterey, denied the Work Lumber Company attorneys' motion for a new trial.

Yesterday afternoon a jury of six men and six women found the Work Lumber Company guilty of violating the Carmel business license ordinance which requires out of town business firms, making an average of one or more deliveries a week per quarter in Carmel, to obtain a license.

City Attorney John A. Morse called Arthur M. Plaxton, license collector, and Police Officers Del Wermuth, Jr., and Sergeant William Ellis, to establish that the Work Company had made at least 14 lumber deliveries in Carmel between April 1 and June 13, 1958.

Attorneys for the company, Thompson and Etienne, said company records showed no more than 10 lumber deliveries during the period. And in their motion for new trial this morning, contended that there had been insufficient evidence of violation presented at yesterday's trial.

Mr. Thompson told the Pine Cone that the company had not decided whether they would appeal to Superior Court. The license would have cost the Work Company $25.

The other peninsula cities repealed their out of town delivery license ordinance last year when T. A. Work, president of the Work Company, called a conference of peninsula cities.

Planning Commission Makes Nobody Mad, Has Nothing To Do

Carmel City Planning Commission, in study session yesterday afternoon, postponed discussing the city council referrals and the zoning plan because Herbert Blanks, who has been working on the chairman's committee report on these subjects, was absent.

They had a preview of three commercial plans which they will act on at their business session Wednesday afternoon, 4:00 o'clock.

The plans are for: A medical building, Architects Burde, Shaw and Kearns, on Mission between Seventh and Eighth for Drs. Carol McKenney and Tom Morris, three professional offices housed in a one-story building in front, and a two-story structure in the rear, the two units to be separated by a patio. Materials are redwood.

Born and raised in San Francisco, Mrs. Elsen had, prior to coming here to live, been a frequent visitor, "and I feel that after twenty years I can surely call Carmel home," she said. "Our son Michael was born here and graduated from Carmel High School last June. He is in the Air Force now and I have free time to devote my energies to a cause very close to my heart, the Junior College Districting."

Mrs. Elsen has been active in the League of Women Voters and was a member of the Citizens Committee on county-wide Junior College questions for the Monterey County Committee in School District Organization. "I would like to see a Peninsula or a County-wide District, whichever would serve our students best," Mrs. Elsen stated. "I will definitely oppose the annexation of Carmel to Hartnell College if it would prohibit student attendance on the Monterey Peninsula College campus. At present there are 1081 students residents of Carmel and Pacific Grove enrolled at MPC. I feel that their interests, as well as the tax rate affecting their families must be protected. Also, I feel we should have definite trustee areas, whether it be a Peninsula or a County District."

Melville, a native of Holland, came to Carmel eight years ago from New York, where he was a buyer for Macy's. He first came to the United States during the war. A lieutenant colonel in the Dutch Army, he represented The Netherlands on the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, D.C., and later on NATO. He resigned to become a citizen of the United States. In 1950 he married a girl from Amsterdam, who was also with NATO.

He has become known as an authority on California Wines, his book on the subject acquiring best-seller status. He has an article on wines in the current issue of Gentlemen's Quarterly. The coin operated laundromat he owns in Pacific Grove is a secondary interest, he says.

He accompanied his announcement of candidacy with the following written statement:

I am running as a candidate to the Governing Board of the Carmel Unified School District as, like many other parents, I am deeply worried about the standard of education which our children receive today. The fact alone that about half the high school seniors who take the University of California's "Subject A" examination flunk the exam is cause for the gravest concern.

LIVE OAK NINES AT CARMEL FRIDAY AFTERNOON

A win-hungry Live Oak High baseball aggregation invades the Carmel High diamonds this Friday afternoon for a pair of league jousts with the Padre varsity and jayvee squads. The Acorns have dropped a pair of league tilts by narrow margins this season and hope to get on the winning trail at the expense of the defending champions from Carmel. Live Oak dropped a 3-2 cliff-hanger to the King City Mustangs and were edged by the Pacific Grove Breakers, 4 to 3, last Friday. Carmel is currently sporting a 1-1 record in league play, edging the San Lorenzo Cougars, 2 to 1, and dropping an extra-inning affair to Gonzales, 8 to 7. Friday's game shapes up as an even-up tussle with the Acorns having the advantage in the pitching department and the Padres showing more power at the plate. Acorn hurler, Jim Colby, is rated one of the best in the league and showed good stuff while holding Pacific Grove to a pair of hits over the seven-inning route.

Carmel's starting infield consists of Dave Hansen, catcher; Bud Cunningham, 1st base; Ron Faia, 2nd base; Walt Helm, 3rd base; and Dave Fuller, shortstop. Bob Little, Carmel's regular third-baseman, broke his wrist in a high-jumping accident this week and will be out of action for six weeks. Covering the outfield for the Padres will be Dale Dawson, Larry Dufur, and Ron Hinchcliff. Infield bench strength is furnished by Mike Draper, Chris Wilkin, and John Wilkin. Outfield reserves are Mike O'Shea, Frank Mayo, and Mike Taylor. Friday's starting pitcher will emerge from a four-some of Jim Brown, Phil O'Shea, Bud Conroy, and Jim Conway.

Starting for Carmel's jayvees will be Frank Bueher, Forrest Cornwall, Al Hagar, Baxter Garcia, Pablo Quintero, Dick Hubbell, John Draper, Vance Kastor, and Joe Sponsler. Cornwall will be the starting pitcher for the jayvees with Jim Miles and Ricky Baldwin ready for relief duty.

LITTLE LEAGUE FARM TEAMS SET FOR '59 SEASON

Rosters for the seven Farm Teams of the Carmel Little League have been completed and the little sprouts are ready for some fast action when the league starts on Saturday, May 2nd. The talent has been evenly distributed throughout the seven-team circuit and keen competition shapes up for all the Farm Team games. 1958 Champions, The Little Sparrows, will be managed by Francis Sparolini and Ray True and will be manned by players Don Caldwell, Mike Conroy, Mike Lemons, Gerald Montgomery, Fred Seeley, Stanley Townes, John Montmorency, Joe Pistucka, Charles Clement, Robert Clement, Brian Cronwall, Craig Wood, Greg True, Darrell Dawson, John Clancy, Scott Lemons, and David Seeley.

PADRES DROP TWIN-BILL AT GONZALES

Carmel High's varsity and jayvee baseball squads traveled to Gonzales last Friday for a pair of league games and found the Spartans too tough to handle as the hosts clipped them in both tilts. The Little Spartans hung a 6-4 defeat on Coach Dan Yurkovich's Little Padres and the well-coached Spartan varsity edged the Carmel varsity, 8 to 7, in eight innings. Deft manipulation of bunts by both the jayvee and varsity clubs provided the winning edge for the Spartans.

The Padre varsity used three pitchers, Bud Conroy, Phil O'Shea, and Cim Conway in an attempt to throttle the classy Spartan hitters but the hosts pecked away at all three for 14 hits. Conroy started on the mound and gave up 3 runs in two innings as he showed streaks of wildness. Phil O'Shea took over in the third inning and was greeted with a three-run outburst in the fifth heat as the Spartans hit around the order. Cim Conway came in to put out the fire and held the Spartans even until the first extra inning when shortstop Joe Montes singled home

... a glass of beer
is many things

Californians talk about Monterey Peninsula with a touch of nostalgia—it's a symbol of their relaxed style of living. And so is a glass of beer. It's the modern symbol of light refreshment.

And in this state beer means more than refreshment. To the nearly 8,000 Californians in the Brewing Industry beer means a good livelihood. To all Californians it means a better economy. In 1958 the Brewing Industry was responsible for over $27 million of this state's revenue—just one more reason why beer means better living for Californians.

Prince Bader Takes Door To Door Tour Of Carmel Shops

A prince right out of the Arabian Nights visited Carmel last week. He was the guest of Charles H. Handford, partner in the Ashley-Handford Travel Agency. The Prince's name is Bader Abdullah Mulla and he is prime minister and secretary of state of the tiniest, most remote and wealthiest sheikdom in the world. It is known as Kuwait, a bit of the burning Arabian desert whose sands slither and slide to the very edge of the thirsty Persian Gulf.

Prince Bader is a personal friend of Charles Handford's whose travel agency handles all official Kuwait travel, and as you will see, that is a formidable assignment. From San Francisco his Royal Highness had instructed Charles, requesting five white Chryslers, a body guard and a chartered plane. He wanted like anything to go to Highlands Inn for lunch (a friend across the world had tipped him off). The Prince put in appearance last Sunday, minus retinue, cars and body guard, a really charming, unpretentious young man of 23 with a ready smile and fluent English vocabulary. It being Sunday, luncheon was not served at Highlands Inn so they went to Del Monte Lodge instead, reaching the Inn for the magic view at cocktail time. Joining Mr. Handford and his visitor were four of the Prince's fellow countrymen who are here attending Monterey Peninsula College on a diplomatic exchange. Abdulla Ali Tiffe Saleh, Abdulla Hadid, Mohamed Tagi and Gazi Sultan greeted the visitor and went along on the sight seeing tour which included a door to door inspection of Ocean Avenue's shops.

Within the past few weeks Kuwait has been headlined in national publications across the nation. How much of the fanfare is due to Prince Bader's U. S. visit is hard to gauge, but it is a country to know about, it is the world's richest oil center. In ten short years its inhabitants, from sheep herder to mighty sheik, have transformed not only themselves but their city. A decade ago the gentle un-ambitious scantily educated natives were content to trade sheep and horses, and sit in the sun. Since 1950 the Kuwait Development Board has spent more than $500,000,000 on schools, highways, hospitals and government projects. There are no citizen taxes and social benefits have brought health and security. This Tom Thumb sheikdom is ruled by a benevolent old gentleman, His Highness Sheikh Abdullah al Salim al Sahah whose personal income from nine shiny barrels of oil, is $1,000,000 each day. His freckled face is grey bearded. Gentle, friendly and abstemious, he neither craves nor flaunts his wealth. He avoids trouble, local and international. His sheikdom is linked by treaty to Great Britain and during the Suez crisis when London pulled his loyalties one way and Nasser too - close - for - comfort brought opposing pressure, Abdullah just took off in his yacht and remained incommunicado until both sides calmed down.

Prince Badur through some local twist in Kuwait is not in line for the throne, but as prime minister and secretary of state he is eligible to revenue from quite a number of barrels of oil, and visits to Carmel. C. E.

Looking Forward

Visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wells of Whitman Circle, is Denise, Mrs. Kenneth L. Barton. While her husband, Sergeant Barton is serving a tour of duty at Fort Bliss, Texas, Denise will remain in Carmel awaiting the advent of their first child, scheduled for late June. Denise graduated from Carmel High School in June of '55.

Letter From Margaret Smith

Dell (Mrs. Paul) Bugh has just received a jubilant letter from Margaret Hensel Smith who is enroute to Europe with her mother Mrs. Zenas L. Potter. "We stopped in Minneapolis," Margaret wrote, "to see my son Peter who is paying a prolonged visit to his father. Peter is blooming and happy and sends fond hellos to all his pals at Carmel High." Margaret and her mother are now aboard the Liberte and plan to spend three months abroad before she returns to her advertising executive desk at Holmans.

Music and Hospitality

Preceding the concert to be given this Sunday evening by the Stockton Choral at the Church of the Wayfarer, there will be a dinner honoring the singers, hosted by the Couples' Club. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, presidents of the Club, will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Hall Green and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Iott. A coffee hour will follow the program, with Mr. and Mrs. Philip Livingston of the Voyagers' Club heading the committee.

Spring Party

The American Legion will hold its Spring Dance in the Legion Hall Saturday evening. Jim Kelsey, chairman, promises "wonderful chow and top form music."

Duo-Pianists Play For Concert Assn. In P. G. Tuesday

Bill and Pat Medley, duo pianists, will present the last concert of the current season for the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association on Tuesday in Pacific Grove High School.

This concert is also open to members who have joined the association for the 1959-60 season. Membership cards will not be mailed until October, but secretaries will have the membership file in the lobby to take care of the admission of new members.

In Salinas, also on Tuesday evening, the Salinas Community Concert Association will admit 1958-59 members of the Peninsula Association to the Eugene List Concert Festival, assisted by the Knickerbocker Players.

Mrs. Clyde F. Dyke, Peninsula Concert Association president, expressed regret that it had not been possible to avoid the conflict of dates which has brought the Medleys and Eugene List to our county on the same night.

Eyewear Styles Demonstration For Women's Clubs

Mrs. Floyd Kimball will greet members of the Christian Women's Club at a luncheon to be held today in Antonetti's Restaurant under the sponsorship of the Central Coast Optometric Society. Following the luncheon there will be an address and demonstration of styling in eyewear, given by Dr. Fred Duffie of Monterey. Mrs. Lorin Lacey and Mrs. Clair Duck of Carmel are in charge of floral decorations.

Dr. Charles N. Pearson of Carmel will be the evening speaker before members of the Christian Business and Professional Women's Club, following dinner at the Cypress West Hotel. Miss Mary Lovett will greet the guests.

The two clubs, with national headquarters in Kansas City, have 24 active chapters in Central California.

Abstract Art Is Form Of Nihilism Says Luis Filcer

Lautrec, Daumier, and Goya. Most of all—Goya."

Luis is in Carmel visiting old friends. He first met Valerio and Nadja Gluski when they all haunted a student's Bohemian restaurant on the Via Margutta in Rome. After visiting the Gluski's for a month, he will go on to New York where he will have an exhibition in the home of Louis Hubschman, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, who became familiar with Luis' work while on a visit to Mexico City.

This will not be his first exhibition. Under the aegis of the Mexican government, he has had one-man shows in Paris, Rome, Milan, and Utrecht, as well as numerous exhibits in Mexico City. His Carmel exhibit is, however, his first in America.

An interesting comment came to light during the course of the interview. When he was asked who in his opinion was Mexico's greatest painter, Filcer replied without hesitation: "Orozco, beyond question, was Mexico's greatest artist but in depicting the cruelty of Mexico, he succeeds in showing his own cruelty."

Filcer is an accomplished guitarist with an extensive knowledge of both Spanish and Mexican music, as well as Italian and French songs, which he sings in a soft voice while strumming his guitar. However, he has not been very familiar with American music and hopes to hear more real American jazz during his travels, particularly in New York.

While in the East, he plans to visit Boston, Philadelphia, and Montreal before returning to Mexico to paint again his work-worn peons in sun-splashed cornfields, his handsome Indian women in their somberly colored rebozos, and all the rest of the brilliant pageant of his adopted land.

RED CROSS AMBULANCE DEDICATION MONDAY

A very proud and happy group will meet at Devendorf Plaza Monday at noon to dedicate the new Carmel Chapter, American Red Cross ambulance just arrived from Nashville, Tennessee, with Bernard Roberts at the wheel.

The shiny new Pontiac will replace the Cadillac which has been in service for the past ten years and will now go into further service in Carmel Valley. Vice-chairman of the Carmel Chapter, Edgar Bissanz, will preside at Monday's dedication to which all citizens are invited.

S. Browne, attempting to get within camera shooting distance of the down coast seal colony seven miles south of Big Sur, fell 450 feet and died from his injuries before help could reach him.

The accident occurred Saturday morning when Browne and a companion, Pfc. Patrick McQuilliams, got out of Browne's car and started scrambling down the cliff. McQuilliams saw Browne climb onto insecure ground, he says. Then Browne disappeared. McQuilliams climbing down, found him at the base of the cliff, "unconscious but breathing." Returning to the highway, McQuilliams enlisted help from some tourists who reported the accident at Big Sur. When Deputy Sheriff Dave Case and five volunteers from the Sur, and a helicopter from Fort Ord arrived, Browne was dead. The helicopter removed the body.

Carmel Red Cross Ambulance crew were unable to revive Mrs. Lois H. Pottenger, 42-year-old San Francisco woman, who drowned while skin diving off San Jose State Park Beach Sunday afternoon. She and her husband, Robert, a YMCA program director, and several other skin divers from San Francisco were playing in the surf about 100 yards off shore when her husband lost sight of her and called for help. The skin divers recovered her body in a few minutes, but she could not be revived. Carmel Volunteer Firemen who manned the ambulance were: Bernard Roberts, Clifford Brown and Rolland Belvail.

On February 23, Stephen Paniaik, 22, of Burlingame, drowned while skin diving near Bird Rock on the Seventeen Mile Drive.

A ten year old Pacific Grove boy, Gregory Golding, died of strangulation Sunday evening when he looped his belt around his neck, fastened the other end to the upper springs of a tier bed and fell to the lower bunk.

Coroner Christopher W. Jr. said the death was accidental. The boy had been happy over winning a trophy the day before in a coaster race, according to his parents. Mr. and Mrs. William L. Golding. Gregory had been in his room for about fifteen minutes when his mother, calling him to dinner, found him dead.

I am for making certain that enough subjects and the proper ones are taught in the proper years.

I am against teaching down to the lowest level in the class.

I am for more homework.

I am against teaching subjects that have no true educational value.

I am for more thorough training in the three R's and other basic subjects.

We owe our children the very best education we can possibly give them. A nation stands and falls with the education it gives the next generation.

If elected I pledge to do all I can to help raise the standard of education in Carmel to the highest possible degree.

BOTANISTS VISIT GARDENS

Ninety members of the Northern California Botanical Association spent the week end on the Monterey Peninsula and visited some of the exceptional local gardens.

The group, leaving San Francisco's Golden Gate Park in two busses Saturday morning, had picnic lunch at Point Lobos, and in the afternoon, visited the gardens of Lloyd Tevis and Dr. R. A. Kocher, who specializes in azaleas, rhododendrons and orchids.

Returning to their headquarters at Asilomar in time for dinner the visitors were entertained during the evening by Clyde Robins of Carmel Valley who showed his colored slides of wild flowers.

Sunday was given to touring. First the Valley garden of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, a riot of colors, famous for its potted plants that, blooming in rotation lend drama all year round. On to the formal gardens of Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, also in the Valley, where the Italian pines and clipped hedges lend unique character to the scene. Very different were the gardens of Mrs. F. G. Cruikshank in Pebble Beach. Designed in consultation with Georg Hoy, the sea plantings, the dramatic use of rocks and oriental pieces brought praise from the visitors who spent much time in the inner patios.

Climaxing the day the beauty seekers arrived at the estate of Francis H. I. Brown, nationally known for its magnificent Hawaiian vistas the fern bearing trees and nicotai (giant white birds of paradise) that bring botanists from all parts of the world.

The Association members returned to San Francisco on Sunday evening.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Omar Hirshbein, pianist, who, while fulfilling his period at Fort Ord, has been in residence with his wife in Carmel, was heard Wednesday of last week in All Saints' Hall by a good-sized audience. In a program of classics this young artist displayed a technique equal to any demands, a deep emotional and rhythmic sense, and an earnest and modest demeanor that gave dignity to his whole performance.

The poise and quality of tone with which he opened in the slow Prelude to the B flat minor Bach Fugue showed him as possessing the ability to express inner feeling for modulation and phrasing, if he learns to curb the excessive speed with which he treated some of his program, a common fault of piano playing today that robs a composition of meaning, though it may dazzle an audience with brilliancy!

Nevertheless the clarity and lightness of the Scarlatti group, with the poetic tonal picture of Sea Shells and the Cantabile in C major, were all charmingly given. Beethoven's Sonata in E flat was brilliantly played, followed by four Chopin Etudes and three Debussy numbers including the well known Golliwog Cake Walk were characteristically performed. The interesting Mendelssohn Variations Series, too seldom heard today, brilliantly completed the program to which, after enthusiastic recalls, a Chopin Fantasia and the Etude on the Black Keys were added, showing in the central melody of the Fantasia the distinct singing quality belonging to Chopin. Being at the end of his Fort Ord training, Hirshbein is departing East this week, giving a concert in Canada enroute and ultimately bound for more study in New York. And one hopes the concert world will open up for this really gifted twenty-four-year-old pianist whom Carmel will be interested to hear again.

The Monterey Peninsula College Spring Concert presented by the Music Department at the Carmel Mission, drew a large audience to the historic building for the choral program conducted by Harvey Marshall and Assistant Angie Machado. An opening organ Canzone by Gabrieli was played by Dorothy Heer, followed by a Couperin Chaconne for brass quartet and organ, effectively rendered by Gene Bailey, Jack Burton, trumpets; Ken Muronaka, french horn; Helen Post, baritone horn, and Joe Rodriguez, organ.

Palistrina's O Bone Jesu was sung by John Erickson's Chamber Singers; Donna Stookey, Danna Swire, Marion Chilson, Maryella Kerns, Barbetha Miller, LeOra

Earl, Helen Anshell, Carol Brauss, and Abigale Landeros. Then the Bach work, Jesu, Priceless Treasure, employed the whole chorus of about fifty voices singing with spirit and good tone. Soloists for this were Danna Swire, soprano; Barbetha Miller, mezzo-soprano; Carol Brauss, contralto, and Dorothy Heer at the organ. The Mozart Coronation Mass afforded the most pleasing result from the whole assemblage, which included for this a chamber orchestra with the Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas as concert-master, with George Beck, John Erickson, Fred Hermann Charlotte Perry, Eiko Yoshizato, Franklin Young and Midge Young, violinists; Mary Dobel, cello; Melvin Buffo and Emile LeChambre, oboe; Betty and Joe Axup, french horn; Edwin Culver, bass; Gene Bailey and Ken Muronaka, trumpet; and Angie Machado, organ; all of which was conducted by Harvey Marshall in his well known energetic manner.

The march down the long aisle of the young men and women as crimsoned-gowned choristers to raised seats across the front of the altar was impressive and added color to the ancient edifice, and they sang the work, as students, well. However, the orchestra could have been more satisfactorily heard if not sandwiched between the chorus and congregation on too low a level. At any distance it seemed muffled. It was, however, an interesting performance.

The College also presented Milton and Peggy Salkind, duo pianists of San Francisco, who were heard by the Carmel Musical Arts Club three years ago. In the Student Union, Friday, an audience enjoyed the neglected art of fourhands on one piano, which the Salkinds have developed greatly in facility and power since I last heard them, and which earned them a recent appearance with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Except for arrangements of opera, symphonic and popular compositions, literature for this kind of playing is limited, so this enterprising couple is commissioning composers to supply some, and a Dance Suite by Kurka, written for them, was included in their program. A Clementi Sonata of three movements, Brahms' Variations on a Theme by Schumann, and the dance suite comprised the first of the program. A man and wife team has advantage in close association which showed in their integrated concept and feeling, and both are capable of emotional power, rhythmic precipitation and change of places for treble or bass. The exuberance of the dance suite was jolly, and seemed to be enjoyed by both themselves and the audience. A difficult Hindemith Sonata, which they admitted to this writer they had only recently tackled, required the presence of the complicated score in front of them, visible to me from where I sat. It was a strong test of clever musicianship. The Schubert Fantasy in F minor was their most brilliant performance. The enthusiastic recalls won a piece by Borodin.

While body movement has become general today in most playing, that of Peggy Salkind is excessive and somewhat disturbing to the onlooker.

It was, however, an interesting and unusual performance at the end of which Milton Salkind addressed the audience and asked for questions, two of which came from a small interested boy in the front.

At the Carmel Foundation, Louis Fragos, violinist, presented his ten year old pupil, Tachyun Chang, who played a classic program, with and without his teacher—a Tartini Sonata for two violins and piano, two Bach minuets and the well known Beethoven minuet, then duets for two violins by Mozart and finally a concerto in A minor by Vivaldi. The gifted boy from Korea showed a strong talent and capacity, with intonation, bowing and rhythm sure and flexible. (Continued on Page Nine)

Carmel Forestry Commission

Now is the Time to Control Oak Leaf Moth.

The larvae (small green worms with dark stripes on their sides) of oak leaf moth is responsible for the defoliations of our Coast Live Oaks that takes place from time to time. The Coast Live Oak is the magnificent variety which grows as a Native on the Monterey Peninsula. The larvae live on the young growth presently appearing on the oaks, and now is the time to control this year's spring brood.

Lead arsenate sprays are recommended to effect control, and for three reasons: (1) They are effective. (2) They do not kill the insect enemies of the oak moth larvae known as predators, and provided by nature to keep things in balance. (3) This type spray does not cause other infestations to appear. Scale, for example, is more difficult to control than the moth. Two objections may be raised to the use of arsenate sprays—they are poisonous and should be used only by competent operators, and second, a whitish residue is left on the leaves for a while after the spraying, and this may be considered unsightly by some.

DDT and sprays of comparable nature are also used. These generally leave the tree clean in appearance, and the materials are less hazardous to use. The objections however, appear to offset the advantages. They do kill off the predators, as well as the larvae of the oak leaf moth, and further, their continued use may create conditions under which scale may develop.

After the worms of the oak leaf moth begin to crawl in search of a place to pupate (an immobile, non-feeding stage between worm and moth, that is) spraying is not effective.

Oak leaf moths have two broods per year, one in early spring, one in the summer. Controls may be applied to the late hatch of the larvae, but the brood now busily chewing oak leaves is generally the heaviest and the most important to take care of. In other words, keep an eye open for little green worms with stripes on their sides. The moths are not the leaf eaters, it is the worms. The moths lay the eggs at the top of the trees, as this is where evidence of the larvae shows up first. Freshly chewed leaves, and spotted leaves are also signs of the presence of the little green monsters. Then—if the need is apparent—have your trees sprayed.

Finally, fertilizer will benefit your oak trees, and, unless you are in a pocket without soil drainage, do give your trees a good soaking from time to time. Healthy trees grow faster, are more handsome and more able to resist infections and pests than poorly fed or unhealthy ones.

The Carmel Pine Cone
Carmel, California
The Editor:

We have been informed by The American Red Cross that the Carmel Chapter was one of the first in California to achieve its goal in the recent fund drive. We are grateful for the support given by The Pine Cone.

We greatly appreciate the enthusiastic effort of all the devoted volunteers who worked on the campaign. Particularly helpful were Mrs. Jack Martin, who organized the residential districts, Mr. Jack Miller, who did exceptional work in our business district, and Mrs. Dorothy von Meier, who kept the record of contributions.

"Well done and thanks!" to all the fine workers and to the many people who responded promptly and generously with their contributions and for having made possible the broad program of Red Cross activities for the coming year.

Sincerely Yours,

Gentlemen:

Enclosed is my check for $4.50. I would like to continue my subscription to your splendid newspaper. I can't begin to tell you how much I enjoy it.

In closing I would like to compliment the fine people of Carmel that are fighting so hard to keep their town the most charming, individual and atmospheric spot in the United States. Once the mighty commercial hand clamps down on a place its charm just seems to vanish. I have seen it happen so often to beauty spots in my own native South. Monterey Founded For The Church And Marketplace

by J. William MacLennan
PART III

With the closing of Spain's trade route across the Pacific, which she had maintained for two and a half centuries, a few Spanish ships put into Monterey, and her connection with the outside world was marked chiefly by the arrival of some distinguished visitor, such as Vancouver or Palouse, Russian vessels from Fort Ross and Sitka coming into the bay to hunt otters or to purchase grain, and Boston ships seeking furs and hides. During the subsequent 150 years of her history, few stirring events disturbed her peaceful dreamy life.

In 1818 occurred the first of these disturbing and stirring events. In that year Hypolite de Bouchard, in command of the Argentina and the Santa Rosa, flying the rebel flag of Buenos Aires, entered Monterey Bay and demanded that the Spanish governor, Vincente de Sola, surrender, and that Monterey join the rebel cause. When he refused and fired on and damaged the Santa Rosa, Bouchard landed and seized the Presidio, which he found had been abandoned during the night. Sola, with his force, had withdrawn to the Salinas River, and the older men and women had taken refuge at San Antonio Mission. Bouchard's crew, made up largely of adventurers—American, English, Chinese, Malaysians, and Kanakas, many picked up on the beaches of the South Seas and ready for any kind of adventure, even piracy, and accompanied by thirty or more Kanaka women gathered from the streets of Honolulu—immediately pillaged the simple houses near the beach and then the Presidio. After waiting for a week in vain for Sola to surrender, they set fire to the Presidio. That evening must have been one of the wildest Monterey ever experienced, as the flames leaped high, with thirty or more Kanaka women dancing the hula while Kanaka men beat out the rhythm of the dance on improvised drums, and the rest of the raiders, warmed by the abundance of wine and brandy they had found in the Presidio, cheered them on. After that, Bouchard withdrew from Monterey, sailed south, plundered Refugio Rancho near Santa Barbara, ran off cattle at San Juan Capistrano Mission, and then left California.

When Mexico won her independence in 1822, Alta California became a part of Mexico, and rebellions were frequent as various factions sought to get control of the government of the province. One such occasion was in 1829 when Solis and a group in Monterey decided to oust Echeandia from the governorship of San Diego.

there are still people left that value the peaceful beauty of their town enough to fight for its preservation. Congratulations and good luck!

Sincerely
Mrs. A. Paul Brown

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The spiritual relationship of God and man will be set forth Sunday at Christian Science services. Selections to be read from the Bible, in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement," include this from I John (4:15, 16): "Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God. And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us, God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (18:1-5): "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage."

Anne Olson to Tell How to Use and Care For New Fabrics

What to expect in durability, resistance to wrinkling, shrinkage and colorfastness from the many new fabrics, will be discussed by Miss Anne Olson, University of California Home Advisor, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the Monterey Public Library meeting room, Madison and Pacific Streets.

Most homemakers are asking for easy-care materials that require little or no ironing. People are asking "why do fabrics labeled wash-and-wear require ironing?" Why do these fabrics sometimes turn bright yellow when laundered the conventional way? Some say the new fabrics are hard to clean by the usual methods.

Miss Olson will discuss the four types of wash and wear fabrics, how to sew them to prevent seam puckering and how they should be laundered. "The new fabrics are beautiful and can be truly wash and wear if we understand what can be expected of them and learn how to care for them," Miss Olson says.

Vocal Concert at Town House

On Wednesday afternoon a program of song by Carl Bensberg, baritone, and Lydia Bader, pianist, will be presented at the Carmel Foundation Town House at 3:00 o'clock. The public is invited. Tea will be served.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

Here we are, getting along toward the end of National Library Week and having a wonderful time. We have almost two hundred new books for observation in the reading room, and the number we have there is the number the case would hold. Come on in and sign up for a few of them. You'll never celebrate a national week in a safer and saner manner. Reading is fun, and all the new books beckon you toward weeks of pleasantness.

Here are some thumbnail sketches of a few of the new books. Robert Graves has one entitled Five Pens in One Hand, which is a collection of stories, essays, lectures, and poems.

Morros, Boris: My Ten Years as a Counterspy. Here a successful producer, turned spy for the Soviet Union and counterspy of the United States, tells a fantastic story more engrossing than fiction could ever be.

Woolf, Virginia: Granite and Rainbow. A strange title for a collection of 27 essays on the arts of fiction and biography.

Cerf, Bennett: 24 One-Act Plays. Represented here are Irish, American, English, and Russian Writers.

Culin, Stewart: Games of the Orient. Described here are forms of play handed down for many generations. Also included are games involving the mysterious and occult.

Gross, Nancy: Living with Stress. This is a book based upon Dr. Hans Selye's concept of stress and growth.

Bossard, James H.S.: Why Marriages Go Wrong. The author explains the dangers to marriages today and tells why Americans are the most married and divorced people on earth.

Forbes, R. J.: Man the Maker. This is a short history of technology, well done and interesting.

Wheeler-Bennett, John W.: King George VI, His Life and Reign. A well-documented biography which gives the reader the result of five years of research and study. The illustrations are photographs, and some are in color.

There are also many novels, including We the Living by Ayn Rand, Dear and Glorious Physician by Taylor Caldwell, The Choir Invisible by Marianne Hauser, and The Shanghai Item by Mona Gardner. And there are a flood of new mysteries for the devoted thereto. Have we tempted you?

WHAT'S DOING

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

Ever counted the steps from the kitchen to your phone? Try it. 15 steps? 20? 30? Even if you get only 3 calls a day during kitchen hours, a kitchen extension would save you 16,000 to 33,000 steps a year! It lets you go right ahead with your work when the phone rings, too. No turning off the stove and running through the house to answer the telephone. And if you're planning to move soon, you can save money on the installation cost of extensions. The charge to move your present phone covers the installation cost of all the extensions you'll need in your new home.

Gail da Roza and Sally Campbell of Carmel are shown with the New Call Director being installed at the Carmel High School. This new type of installation will accommodate a maximum of 16 incoming lines and features a new intercom system which allows for more than one conversation to be carried on at a time.

Axelrod Comedy Opens Friday At Studio Theatre

George Axelrod's Broadway farce, The Seven Year Itch will open Friday at the Studio Theatre.

This comedy of a book publisher made a summer bachelor by his wife's retreat to the country, and the imagined love affairs which follow, played in New York for three years with Tom Ewell as Richard, and has had seven foreign language translated productions. The movie version followed with Ewell again playing his stage role, with Marilyn Monroe as "the girl upstairs."

The Studio's production will star Clifford Berry as Richard, Myrtlerose Craig as "the girl upstairs." Sandra Six will play Richard's vacationing wife, Helen. Blair Phinney is cast as Tom McKenzie.

Others in the cast are Robert Binney as a book writing psychiatrist, and Jimmie Collins as Richard's son, Ricky. Richard's imagined dream loves are played by Arlene Woods, Joy Ware, Betty Cox, and Lee Harbick.

This comedy will play Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock at The Studio Theatre on Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh.

and has the material of which real artists are made. The roomful of people was quick to recognize this and the unusually quick development for only one year's study that reflects great credit on his teacher as well as on himself.

Thiman's Easter Cantata, The Last Supper, became a special music service in place of a sermon at All Saints, Sunday. It was given by the choir, soloists and small orchestra led by the Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas and directed by organist Robert Forbes. The choir of only twenty voices, placed on one side of the chancel facing the organ, managed a full and flexible volume of tone, with enunciation clearer than usual, which makes all the difference to delivery and tone as well as the meaning conveyed to listeners. It was a distinctly good performance which Forbes, in the complicated action of both organist and conductor, managed with inspiration and excellent playing. Donnelly Fen, in the baritone solo part, sang with sympathetic voice and feeling; and Shirley Hubbard, in the soprano role, with deliberation and brilliancy. The orchestral ensemble opened the service with a Vivaldi Sonata for strings and organ, and for the offertory played a Tartini

Sonata. Both were happy choices that flowed out into the auditorium in the dedicated playing of John Ericson, Elko Yoshizato, Marie Sale, Louise Friedhoff-Vedetsky and Edward Culver, besides Nicholas. It is hoped these musical services will be continued at intervals.

Next Sunday, at the Wayfarer Church, an evening service of music will be given at 8:00 o'clock by the Stockton Choral from Stockton including soprano and tenor soloists. The chorus numbers more than thirty, with Arthur J. Holton, director, who is also director of music at the College of Pacific in Stockton.

Dick Lofton Has Show At U. S. F.

Richard Lofton's one-man show in the library of the University of San Francisco opened last Monday and will continue through April 26. All oils, the canvasses include landscapes of the desert in springtime, gardens of Monterey Peninsula, and the coastline. There are two outstanding portraits, one of a young boy, the other of the artist's daughter, Nancy.

Lofton is a member of the Carmel Art Association, shows regularly in the monthly exhibits and has had several outstanding one-man shows in the Carmel gallery as well as elsewhere.

Cal Tjader Quintet In Jazz Festival Preview at Sunset

The Cal Tjader quintet and special guest artist Paul Horn, flute, will headline the second Festival Preview to be presented Monday night in the Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, under the auspices of the Monterey Jazz Festival.

One of the nation's outstanding vibraphone stars and a top selling Fantasy record artist, Tjader heads one of the most outstanding jazz and Afro-Cuban groups of the day. Paul Horn, Dot recording star, was formerly with Chico Hamilton. The concert is being recorded by Fantasy for an early album release.

Two members of the Tjader group, drummer and timbales player Willie Bobo, and conga drummer Mongo Santamaria, are the nation's top performers on these instruments. Rounding out the quintet are Al McKibbon, bass, a former member of the Dizzy Gillespie and George Shearing groups; and the great new piano discovery, Lonnie Hewitt. The guest star, Paul Horn, is one of the most sought after young flute players in the record industry.

President Hal Hallett of the non-profit Jazz Festival explains that the Preview series, which augments the annual fall weekend production, has a dual purpose—to provide experience for committee members and to amplify the Monterey Peninsula College jazz study program which is supported by the Festival from its net proceeds.

Ethel Prowell, president; Chips Wood, vice-president, Nicki Wilson treasurer and Diane Miller, secretary. They will leave Carmel by bus accompanied by Mrs. Ellen Jane Down, teacher of mathematics and student counselor.

Boyer Students Recital

On Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock a recital by pupils of the Carmel Studios of Music will be held at the Monterey Peninsula USO. The public is invited to attend. Compositions to be presented are Presto from Sonata, Op. 10, No. 3 of Beethoven by Katy Fry; Shostakovich's Preludes Nos. 12, 14 and 24 by Carole Crumpley; a Rachmaninoff Prelude and the Turina Sacro-Monte by Ann Del Carlo; Prelude No. 1 of Chopin and Musical Snuff Box of Liadov by Karen Beswick; Bach's Prelude in F Major by Robert Boyer; and Prokofieff Gavotte and a Bach Prelude in E-minor by Mary Ann Purvis.

Other compositions by Beethoven, Bach and Rogers will be played by Alice and Roger Corrington and Linda Ferris. The students playing on Sunday are studying at the Carmel Studios of Music, Gilbert Boyer, Director, and assisting instructors Margaret Altkenhead, Jane Moore, Edna Marie Natkin, and Eiko Yoshizato.

Lillian Phillips Home

Just returned from a three weeks' vacation in Hawaii, Lillian Phillips says she visited friends in

Honolulu and spent much time being driven about the surrounding country. "The foliage, the flowers and the birds were different and certainly exotic" she said, "but I can't tell you how beautiful Carmel looked to me when I got home."

Peninsula Women's Clubs Dinner

The Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Carmel, Monterey, Pacific Grove and Seaside will hold a joint installation meeting in the Pacific Room of the Hotel San Carlos on the evening of April 23. Mrs. Talma Wolfe, past president of the Monterey Peninsula District, will preside at the installation of officers of the Circle of Friendship. Entertainment will be furnished by the Gutekunst sisters. The social hour will be at 6:30 o'clock with dinner served at seven. Members wishing to make reservations in Carmel are asked to telephone Mrs. Carol Boudouin, chairman.

Sunset's Musicians Will Travel

Sunset School's band, under the direction of Arthur Holman, and the choir, directed by Mrs. Donn Fenn, will go to Watsonville this Saturday to participate in the annual Tri-County Music Festival which is sponsored by the Central Coast Section of the California Music Educators' Association. Students from the elementary schools of Santa Cruz, San Benito and Monterey Counties will perform. Sunset's choir of 40 will be heard at 9:45 o'clock; the band of 25 will play at 10:40 on Saturday morning. Mr. Holman and Mrs. Fenn will accompany the children.

The Kelsey's 35th Anniversary

Two Carmelites, Ivan and Viola Kelsey, celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary Sunday by driving down below King City to see the new dam, and to fish. "We didn't catch any fish," Mrs. Kelsey said, "but we had a wonderful time remembering April 12, 1924."

The daughter of Mr. A. M. Stump and the late Mrs. Stump of Pacific Grove, Viola met Ivan Kelsey of Carmel in March 1924 and she remembers it was a "whirlwind courting." Six weeks later they were married in the home of Viola's parents. Ivan's parents H. J. and Eda Kelsey had just given up their candy shop in Monterey and had come to live in Carmel. The Ivan Kelseys had two children, a daughter Noreen who became Mrs. Fred Antrim and who passed away five years ago leaving a young son Dennis now living with his father in Illinois. Their son Jim is the genial owner of Carmel's Rinky Dink where he is assisted now and again by his wife Frankie. The James Kelseys have two girls Randy and Dee.

Ivan and Viola Kelsey live at Lincoln and Fifth, their home since 1937. "It marks the spot where Ivan and I met 35 years ago," Mrs. Kelsey says.

Nancy Lofton Plays the Lead

Acclaimed by the director as "a Kim Novak with brains" Nancy Lofton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton is "emoting" these days, playing the leading role in Taming of the Shrew with the Colonial Players, Annapolis Little Theatre. Nancy is a student at St. John's College, Annapolis.

Nancy Patricia Arrives

With not very much but definitely very blonde hair, weighing 8 pounds, 4 ounces, Nancy Patricia McCurdy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCurdy of Guadalupe and Third Street arrived at Community Hospital on April 7. Nancy Patricia's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Young of Carmel, and her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McCurdy of Seaside.

Kergans Home Again

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kergan have returned to their home in Carmel after a week's stay at the St. Helena Sanitarium and Hospital in the Upper Napa Valley for rest and relaxation.

Receive Ord Awards

Kathryn V. Todd, Carmel Point, received the Civilian Sustained Superior Performance award and a check for $100 recently from Major General Carl F. Fritzsche, commanding general of Fort Ord. Two other local civilian employees at Ord, also received the award and checks, Lyle A. Winkler, and Clyde T. Williams, both of Carmel Valley.

Ronnie Faia Says No Party

Ronald M. Faia, the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Faia, Jr., is celebrating his seventeenth birthday today and it is all very involved. He is not having a party, but his brother Tommy, 13 years old, is. The entire Faia family are looking forward to the return of Jack, eldest of the Faia boys, who is attending Oregon State and planning to go into his father's profession of dentistry.

To Music Clubs Convention

Mary Lindsay-Oliver leaves Saturday night for Los Angeles enroute to San Diego for the National Federation of Music Clubs Biennial Convention. Miss Oliver was made a life member of the organization when she was musically active in Illinois where her chorus was chosen best in the state, and she conducted it and one of her compositions at the State Convention in Peoria. However, she has not been in touch with the Federation since the biennial in New York some years ago, and now hopes to make known something of the Music on the Peninsula at this one, she says.

Monday and part of Tuesday she will spend seeing friends in Los Angeles and La Jolla, getting to San Diego just in time for the Opera Dinner of the Denver Opera Co. Many well known artists are participating. A whole day will be given to the young artists' contest, for the National has greatly helped to launch a number of talents in the concert world. Robert Browning and Nan Merriman were first projected by the Federation and will both be heard again at San Diego, as well as several with the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra on April 18, and the Paganini Quartet. Miss Lindsay-Oliver expects to stay the rest of the week and return, if possible, in time for the Carmel Chamber Music Concert, April 28. She is sorry she must miss the last concert of the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association on April 21 which, normally, she would have reported for the Pine Cone.

Mrs. Bolin Wins Trip

Mrs. Rolf L. Bolin of Carmel was the winner of the trip to Hawaii at the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services' highly successful Entertainment Round the World held yesterday at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

The affair, given for the benefit of the Carmel Foundation attracted more than 1000 men and women of the Peninsula, plus their out of town guests, and there were many. Baron and Baroness Cedercrutz brought their house guests from Sweden who were entertained at cocktails by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph ver Mehr, Jr.

"I think I poured thousands of cups of tea" Mrs. ver Mehr said, "And I was surprised at the number of men who seemed to enjoy the brew, yes there were hundreds of men in evidence, adding their applause of the superb dancers who were sponsored by Pan American World Airways. The most beautiful I think, were Miss Magana Battiste from India in her sari of gold cloth; Audrey Hokey from the Hawaiian Islands and Goom Sook Hahm from Korea. The most dramatic dance of all was performed by Rayden Soekardi, instructor of Indonesian at the Language School, his Candle Dance was breath-taking."

First Lady of the Revolution

The First Lady of the Revolution by Katherine Susan Anthony will be reviewed by Mrs. Gleb Drujina at the book section meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club Monday at 2:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Drujina received her Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Denver and her Master's degree at the University of Utah. She then spent two years in Seattle at the University of Washington doing graduate work, and where she also was Professor of American History. Since coming to live in this area, Mrs. Drujina has served as president of the A.A.U.W. and the Pan Hellenic Society.

There will be an hour for sociability and tea following the program. Mrs. Samuel B. Moore, hospitality chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. C. U. Fonteneau, Mrs. David G. Lane, Mrs. Harold Underwood, Mrs. Ralph Marr, Mrs. M. Wasserman, Mrs. Frederick Spratt, Mrs. H. W. Robbins, Mrs. W. T. Moore and Mrs. Rhea Diveley.

Viljoen Anniversary

A dinner party at the Hofbrau marked the 33rd wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Wyand Viljoen yesterday evening. It was a family affair with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Viljoen of Carmel Valley and their daughter Barbara, a junior at Carmel High School. The senior Viljoens came to Carmel to live 16 years ago.

Hearst Castle Closed April 29-30

The Hearst San Simeon State Historical Monument will be closed to the public April 29 and 30 to allow unimpeded work on the access road to the Castle.

Glenna Diane Has a Brother

Although he is not quite two weeks old, David Kenneth Lucas, born at Community Hospital on April 6 is considered the leading man in town by his sister Glenna Diane who will be two years old April 29. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lucas who came to Carmel four months ago when Mr. Lucas joined the faculty of the Navy Post Graduate School. Visiting her new grandson is his paternal grandmother, Mrs. W. J. Lucas. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carter of Kansas City.

Cademartoris Opens Under Ownership Of Sal Cerrito

Cademartoris, a Peninsula pass-word for fine Italian food, has recently undergone a face lifting operation to enhance its basic beauty. Located on the Monterey-Salinas Highway, five miles east of Monterey, it is scheduled to open today, April 16. Dinner from 5:00 to 11:00 o'clock. Cocktail hour starts at 4:00.

The dining public is offered an outdoor heated patio, a innovation for the Peninsula, and many other extras which helps to create a comfortable continental atmosphere.

Sal Cerrito, the man of many Monterey restaurants, is responsible for this added attraction, an adventure in dining when driving down the Monterey-Salinas highway.

Monterey Founded For The Church And Marketplace

was ready to join them, but Santa Barbara refused. Solis organized a force of Montereyans to bring Santa Barbara to terms. They rode south and besieged the Santa Barbara Presidio, firing at it occasionally from a safe distance. Santa Barbara responded with her several five pounders, but the powder was old and all the cannons could do was to make a great noise as they spewed out the balls. These went rolling down the slope and were caught by the Montereyans and fired back. After three days of this, when Santa Barbara showed no signs of surrendering, the Montereyans became tired of the affair, perhaps their wine had given out. Anyway they folded up their tents, or more correctly their serapes, mounted their horses, and returned to Monterey. Casualties—one mule that had wandered between the lines, probably looking for a luscious bit in one of the outlying gardens. These Mexican battles were seldom very bloody, as most of the Californians were related to one another and no Californian cared to go home, brag about a victory and be compelled to admit he had killed a few of his wife's relatives.

ORDINANCE NO. 258 N.S.ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING EMERGENCY TREE REMOVALS

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea as follows:

Section 1. That Part IX, Division 3, of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea be amended by the addition of a new section to be known as Section 974, which shall read as follows:

Section 974. Anything in this division notwithstanding, in cases of clear and present danger, the Superintendent of Streets may, without permission of the City Council first had and obtained, authorize or undertake the cutting or removal of any tree or portion thereof located on city property within the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, as he in his own judgment may deem advisable.

Section 2. Effective Date. This ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

CERTIFICATION OF CITY CLERK

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 258 N.S., which was given its first reading at a Regular Meeting of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, held on the 4th day of March, 1959, and finally adopted at a Regular Meeting of the said Council on the 8th day of April, 1959.

I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

Dated this 13th day of April, 1959.

CARMELITES GO JET

"We left San Francisco airport at 2:30 in the afternoon, and I was in New York City four hours later," said Mrs. G. Furneaux White who made her first jet flight across the country three weeks ago. "Thirty-one thousand feet above Denver, going at a speed of six hundred miles an hour, with the outside temperature at 59 degrees below zero, all 110 passengers enjoyed the turkey dinner" she related.

Following a two weeks visit with relatives on the east coast, Mrs. White joined Mr. White who met her at the St. Louis airport. "We visited the Reverend Alfred Seccombe in Webster Groves and have brought his and Mrs. Seccombe's greeting to Carmel. We saw the Cardinals and Giants play and Furneaux was very happy to see his Giants win." The Whites spent several days with their daughter Carolyn whose husband, Commander E. M. Cooke, is one of the thirteen jet pilots at the MacDonal Air Force Base where the F4 H and Demon Jets are built and turned over to the Navy after testing.

the Padres, connecting for a well-hit double with two men on to drive in the tying runs in the third inning. Dave has been hitting the ball with authority this season and is one of the best sluggers in the B-division circuit. Dale Dawson and Larry Dufur were defensive standouts for Carmel, both making outstanding catches in the outfield to rob Spartan hitters of extra base blows.

The Little Padres were sparked by Alan Hagar and John Draper in the hitting department while catcher Frank Bucher and shortstop Dick Hubbell starred in the field.

Next action for the Padre nines is slated for this Friday when the Live Oak Acorns invade the Carmel campus for a double-header. First pitch in both games is scheduled for 3:45 p.m.

TRACK CHAMPIONSHIPS AT MONTEREY THIS AFTERNOON

Monterey Peninsula prep track champions will be crowned at the Monterey High oval this afternoon when the thinclads from Carmel, Pacific Grove, and Monterey match swift, spring, and power in a 4 o'clock meet. Coach Doug McNeil's classy Toreadores appear to have a definite edge in both the varsity and lightweight divisions since Monterey whipped King City last week and the Mustangs hold wins over both Pacific Grove and Carmel. The Toreadores are strong in the sprints, weights, and high-jump and have an excellent relay team to get the last five points when the meet is close. Carmel can match the favorites in the hurdles, middle distances, and pole-vault and has a strong hand in the mile run. The Pacific Grove Breakers are in the building stage this season and don't figure to threaten either the Padres or Toreadores.

Coach Fred Rainer expects to pick up points with the following Padre performers: Bill Harder, Al Dahlstrand, Hal Gregerson, and Gernhard Kalmus in the hurdles; Craig Smith and Bob Dufton in the quarter-mile; Frank Wallace and Pete Hansen in the mile; Joe Foster in the half-mile; Phil White in the pole-vault and broad-jump; Dennis Peavey in the broad-jump; Nick Vertin in the high-jump and pole-vault; Dave Vincent, Bill Hicks, and Hal Gregerson in the discus; and Russ Wise in the high-jump.

Saturday morning, the Carmel track squad travels to Atascadero to compete in the Invitational Relays at that city. Over 40 schools will be represented at Atascadero and the entry list embraces some of the top track stars in Northern and Central California.
